ABSTRACT

An exemplary method for increasing cardiac output that includes detecting a need for increased cardiac output and delivering electrical signals to a first electrode proximate to a left sympathetic nerve pathway and a second electrode proximate to a right sympathetic nerve pathway to stimulate sympathetic nerves and thereby increase cardiac output. A device for performing such an exemplary method. Other methods and/or devices are also disclosed.

0220020904 SJI-029US.PAT.APP Lee & Hayes, PLLC